Online Safety

Photos, videos and messages can be copied, saved or forwarded, even when we think we've deleted them.

This week, we're encouraging families to talk about digital footprints – the information we leave behind when we use the internet.

Remind your child to think carefully before posting or sending anything online. Would they be happy for a teacher, parent or grandparent to see it? Have they asked permission before sharing a photo of someone else?

Our message to children: If in doubt, don't send it!
